

Climb Mount Vinson with Ed Viesturs & Peter Whittaker!

Climb Mount Vinson on a unique and personalized mini-expedition.

Join world-renowned climbers and guides Ed Viesturs, Peter Whittaker and Seth Waterfall for a small-party ascent of Antarctica's Vinson Massif (16,067 feet). First climbed in 1966, Vinson is the icy continent's highest peak and one of earth's most exotic mountains. Only four people will be invited to accompany us on this quality experience, a superb chance to bag one of the Seven Summits while learning from, and hanging with, mountaineering's best. Enjoy staggering scenery, good company, and a high client-to-guide ratio while climbing in the most remote and spectacular environment on our planet. We'll even be sending out daily dispatches with stories, photos, and video, so friends and family can follow along. Trip dates: January 1 to 22, 2011. Cost: $50,000. For more information contact: Autumn Zentz at Rainier Mountaineering, Inc. 888-892-5462, www.rmiguides.com.

Climbing the fixed rope

At 16,067' Mount Vinson is Antarctica's highest mountain and one of the world's seven summits.

Patriot Hills Ice Runway